District Court Cases

At the sittings of the District Court, at Coronation, last week,
Roy Spaulding, hardware merchant, Kirriemuir, was given a term of four months in the Provincial jail. He was charged with taking $2,000 from the Cockshut Co while acting as their agent.

O. K. Smith, New Bridgen, was sentenced to serve three months, for shooting horses, but was allowed out on suspended sentence. Smith had made restitution to the owner of the horses, Alf McNeil, for the damage done.

Smith pleaded guilty to the charge, but the Judge took a lenient view of the case.

The Germans are making a desperate attempt to reach the last night, state that things are shaping better for the Allies.

Carmen's Messenger

— BY —
HAROLD BINDLOSS

WARD, LOCK & CO., LIMITED
London, Melbourne, and Toronto

"But you knew there was something wrong. If he had injured somebody in England, he might have injured you. What made you so trustful?"

"Your brother himself. Then he was, so to speak, my benefactor. If he hadn't taken me up, I might have been chopping trees in the snow, instead of enjoying my holidays in England and, to emphasize the contrast, staying at a house like this."

"It doesn't follow; you might have found another opportunity. The point is that you did trust Lawrence."

Foster disliked sentiment and knew that if he struck a false note, he would fail.

"Well," he said, "I don't claim that I'm a judge of character. But one can't make progress in Canada and be a fool. We had gone to the bush together, and handled the hand-sledge across the snow, when it was very doubtful we'd make the settlements. Perhaps there isn't a better way of testing a partner than that. Then a man starts fair in the new countries, and one feels that this is right. He may have given way once to some strong temptation and go the straighter for it afterwards."

Alice looked at him with a curious gleam in her eyes that made his heart beat.

"It was a very strong temptation," she said quietly and stopped as Mrs. Featherstone came in.

VII The Packet

When he had been a few days at the Garth, Foster thought he had better take Carmen's packet to Edinburgh. She had said nothing about its being urgent and he did not want to go, but he must keep his promise and would afterwards be at liberty. Mrs. Featherstone had given him to understand that he was to make the Garth his headquarters as long as he stayed in England, and he looked forward to doing so with much content. The more he saw of his hosts, the better he liked them, and it was a privilege to enjoy Alice Featherstone's friendship. She had, of course, given it him for her brother's sake, but he must try to keep it on his merits.

Since he had seen Alice he began to understand Carmen better. Carmen had charm and knew how to use it to her advantage, while he could not. Alice, employing her beauty to gain an object. She was proud, with an essentially clean pride, and sincere, while Carmen had a talent for intrigue. The latter enjoyed using her cleverness to put down a rival or secure a prominent place; she was a hunter, as they said in the west. Alice, he thought, would not even claim what was hers; it must be willingly offered or she'd let it go. Yet he knew she would be a staunch and generous friend to anybody who gained her confidence.

This kind of comparison, however, was profitless and perhaps in bad taste. After all, Alice was a friend of Carmen's and must do her errand. He left the Garth next morning, and felt that, while he made him promise to come back as soon as possible, drove him across the moors to a small station on the North British line, where he caught an Edinburgh train.

When they ran out of the hills at Hawick, rain was falling and the valley filled with smoke haze, through which loomed factories and chimney stacks. The station was crowded, and Foster gathered from the talk of a big people who got in that a big wool sale was going on and the townsfolk who were not at the auction made it a holiday. His compartment was full, but looking through the window he saw a fashionably dressed girl hurrying along the platform with a porter. They tried one or two carriages, in which there seemed to be no room, and the guard had blown his whistle, when they came abreast of Foster's compartment. Opening the door as the train began to move he held out his hand and pulled the girl in.

"My bag; it mustn't be left!" she cried, trying to get back to the door, but Foster caught the bag as the porter held it up and put it on the rack. "There's a seat in the corner," he said and went into the corridor.

"When they stopped at Galashiels a number of people got out, and he returned to the compartment. It was now unoccupied except by an old man and the girl he had helped, who gave him a grateful smile.

"I don't think to thank you, but I should have insisted that if you had not been prompt," she said.

Foster did not know if Scottish etiquette warranted anything more than a conventional reply, but he ventured to remark: "You certainly seemed to have cut things rather fine."

"I had to drive some distance and the hill roads were bad; then when we got to the town the streets were crowded."

"That would be sad," the old man agreed. "Hawick's gay thrang at the wool sales when the yard trade is in."

Foster liked to talk to strangers and as the girl had not rebuffed him, he took her cloak, which looked very wet, from the rack.

"Perhaps I'd better shake this in the corridor and then we can hang it up," he said.

She allowed him to do so and the old man remarked: "Guid gear's worth the saving, and I was thinking it would be none the waur o' a bit shake, but if ye had heaved to my age among the mosses, ye'd no find yerself sae soople."

"Any kind of gear's worth taking care o'."

"That's true," agreed the other. "A vera praiseworthy sentiment if ye practise it. But I wouldn't say ye were a Scot."

"In a sense, I'm a Canadian, but from what I've seen of the Ontario Scots the difference isn't very marked," Foster rejoined. "Anyhow, they don't buy new material until the old's worn out."

The man chuckled, but Foster thought the girl looked interested.

"Then you come from Canada," she said. "Do you know any of the Ontario cities?"

"I have been in Toronto, but I know the small towns near the Manitoba border best. In fact, I left an ambitious place called Gardner's Crossing about fourteen days ago."

From the quick glance she gave him he imagined that she had heard of the town, but she said: "I have some friends in Ontario and understand that they have had what they call a set-back there. Did this extend to the neighborhood you came from?"

Foster told her something about the development of the lumber trade and mining, but although he had hardly expected her to be interested, he thought she was, and the old man's shrewd remarks helped the conversation along.

"Isn't the Crossing where the big factory is? I forget the name of it," she asked by and by.

"Hulton's," said Foster, and afterwards thought she tactfully encouraged him to talk about the manufacturing firm, although he did not mention Fred Hulton's death. Her manner, however, was quite correct; he had been of some small help, which warranted her conversing with him to pass the time. That was all, and when the companion got out and she opened a book he went to the smoking compartment.

A Royal Welcome

How Old England Treats the United States Soldiers

Whether we are all of British origin or not, is the mind that makes the true patriot; and there is no American so dead as not to feel a thrill when he first sets foot on British soil.

For the soldier, the American soldier, when they began to travel some twenty years ago, and the thousands of our soldiers who pass through on their way to France are feeling it today, and writing home about it. Our soldiers and sailors are being cared for and entertained in England just as they would be cared for and entertained at home. So are their officers. Not long ago one of the finest town houses in London was donated by the officer for American officers' club, the funds were raised by contributions from British officers, and the club was inaugurated by the King and Queen.

Hospitality and good-will have gone much farther than this. Any one who knows London will understand the sacredness of those private squares, surrounded by proprietary residences, where every tree and every blade of grass has been jealously guarded from intrusion for century or more. And of all these squares that of St. James's is perhaps the most exclusive, and yet it is precisely in St. James's there is to be built the first of those hotels designed primarily for the benefit of American officers where they can get a good room for five shillings a night, and breakfast at a reasonable price. One has only to sample the war-time prices of certain hostilities to appreciate the value of this. — Winston Churchill in Scribner's.

The Callous Pacificist

Usually Defends Hun Brutalities Indirectly

There is a coldly savage indifference in the self-styled "pacificist" who attempts to halt the war to make peace and liberty possible in the world, for he would rather see whole populations suffering in German slavery than see them defend themselves with arms. It is this strange callousness to suffering which sooner or later, and often unconsciously, betrays the "pacificist" into pro-Germanism; there is an affinity between his cruel willingness to see people suffer without striking back and the brutality of the German who wishes to strike the helpless. The so-called "pacificist" usually defends the Germans indirectly by trying to make himself believe that the Belgians, himself believe that the Belgians, the Germans. There goes with this "pacificist" sort of about twenty-five, superficial sentimentality; and this sentimentality we also find in the German. These "pacificists" usually do not recognize their own callousness for what it really is; they pretend a superior morality. — Don Marquis in The Evening Sun.

Where King Albert Lives

People frequently wonder where the king of Belgium is today and how Belgium operates her government. The king of Belgium lives in the open meadows of Belgium, in the middle of about twenty-five square miles of territory still intact. It is a place called Les Moers. That is some fifteen miles from Dunkirk. His residence is a country mansion, resembles Mount Vernon viewed from the west, a white, plain, simple 2-story building with a garden in front well planted with flowers.

In Neutral Holland

Looking Forward to Day When Military Caste of Germany Will Be Swept Away

"Why is the German not loved more warmly by his Dutch cousins?" asked a writer in a German newspaper a few days ago. The editor of the Handelsblad takes the part of a candid friend in a reply printed as an editorial.

"First of all," he says, "the dislike of all foreigners prevails everywhere among the mass of the Dutch people, because they feel foreigners to be different. Therefore the Dutch masses dislike Germans, Belgians and Englishmen. But Germany before the war was always holding a loaded revolver to our breast, her contempt for Holland's military power, her thirst for expansion, her wish to try her gigantic and remarkable war machine, were very real dangers. The fear of German militarism was very great, while England and France gave us no such fear."

Then came the invasion of Belgium. This could not merely pity for a small neutral nation like Belgium, whose women and children came weeping and hungry, whose towns and villages were seen burning across the frontier. Few people will admit that the invasion of Belgium was necessary for the defense of the German frontier, and if the invasion had not taken place the war would have been over long ago. Even supposing that the excuse of necessity was legitimate, it would justify a devastation of Holland tomorrow, for Germany's love of justice and her respect for Dutch freedom and independence are very poor securities.

"The Germans blame the English and American governments for putting pressure on Holland, but about the assassination by torpedo of Dutch ships, about the destruction of harmless neutral fish craft they have nothing to say."

The writer concludes with a statement that, in spite of this, there has been recently a certain change in opinion in Holland toward Germany, not an increased love for Germany, but a lessened fear of her. This, he says, is due to the fact that Germany is being purified by suffering, so that the growing democracy of Germany will soon sweep away the military caste and promote international brotherhood.

Horse Meat in Omaha

A United States government market report states that plans have been announced for the opening of retail shops for the sale of horse meat in Omaha and some other cities in that section by a recently organized company with headquarters now at Grand Island, Neb. The promoters of this enterprise have stated that "only" the young, unbroken stock will be used.

IN THE SPRING

will be the great test of a life and death struggle on the Western front. In the everyday life of life it is the spring time that brings life to health. One of the chief reasons why the run-down man finds himself in a state of health in March or April, is because he has spent nearly all his energy for the past four or five months panned up within the walls of home, factory or office. It is the reason for our spring malaise—that is, lack of out-door life, coupled with perhaps over-eating, lack of good exercise, insufficient sleep, and constipation. In other words, we keep feeding the "burn" which food has piled up on the "linkers," and our fire does not burn brightly. Always keep the liver active. There is nothing better for health than taking an occasional mild laxative, perhaps once a week; such a one as you can get at any drug store, made up of May-apple, jalap, alone, (sugar-coated, tiny, easily taken), which has stood the test of fifty years of approval—namely, Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. But for the "Spring Fever," the general run-down condition, the lack of ambition, the "blues," one should take a course of treatment every spring such as a standard tonic as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, now to be had in tablet form in fifty-cent vials. Watch the people go plodding along the street. There's no spring vitality. A vitalizing tonic such as this vegetable extract of Dr. Pierce's gives you the power to force yourself into action. The brain responds to the new blood in circulation, and thus you're ready to make a fight against stagnation. It appears that the world is now! Don't wait! To-day is the day to begin. Give a little "pep" and laugh and live. "Vitality" is the natural out-pouring of a healthy body. It does not appear in the world this spring tonic, and you gain the courage that comes with good health.

A Fortune in Worn-out Tires

According to the statistics of a rubber expert the "discarded" 183,000 tons of automobile tires during the year 1916. Adding to this the large number of bicycle tires thrown away every year by their owners, it appears that the world spends, every year, at least $600,000, 000 for pneumatic tires alone. During the last automobile exhibition in New York City, it was pointed out that nearly 5,000,000 automobiles are now in use in the United States. To supply these with tires, nearly 80,000 tons of raw rubber are needed every year, and the American automobile owners pay every year as much as $200,000,000 for their tire bill. — Scientific American.

Note and Comment

The Daylight Savings Bill went into effect last Sunday, and all the clocks in Canada were put on one hour. This gives us an extra hour of daylight at night and means more sunlight for recreation and also saves burning so much oil at night. Practically every civilized country in the world has put this daylight-saving into effect. The time will be put back again in October.

Reports reaching the Canada Food Board and comment in the public press go to show that the new restaurant regulations ordered by the Board, will have the general public's approval.

Under the new regulations
the word "pork" is substituted for the word "bacon". Bacon, in the trade use of the term, means the whole hog, but as consumers are accustomed to use it, bacon means "bacon", that is, side or back of the hog.
Pork—cured, fresh or pickled—is now all included in the regulation, and the consumption restricted.

Word has been received at Ottawa that Col. Wayland of C. E. F. has been requested by the War Office to immediately proceed to Canada, to supervise the distribution of fibre flax seed which it is anticipated, will be urgently required in order to supply the manufacturing needs for aeroplanes in the near future.

As the importance of these supplies cannot be exaggerated it is exceedingly desirable that there shall be cordial co-operation between the farmers who will sow this special flax seed and Col. Wayland who will distribute the seed to be sown, and he has been empowered to offer suitable terms to farmers sowing this seed. Inquiries may be addressed to Col. Wayland, Grain Exchange, Winnipeg.

The price of a meal in France in a public eating house of even the cheapest kind, is no less than $1.20. Though they have bread tickets in Italy, in many places they have no flour to make bread.

The Provincial Labor Bureaus
throughout the Province now report a surplus of farm labor.
Farmers who may require further assistance, are requested to apply without further delay to the nearest Provincial Farm Labor Bureau stating full particulars of their needs, wages, time of service, etc.

There is a large number of married couples who desire work for both man and wife and the Department is particularly anxious to hear from farmers who may require such service.

To the Men at the Front

We know how much must still be done
Ere you'll be finished with the Hun:
We watch you, wonder at you, where Heroes on land, on sea, in air,
Laughing at death and scornful pain
You fight, and fight, and fight again.
And we fight with you. Yea! although We're elderly civilians, and Women and children; but we stand
As firm as rocks to help you win.
We welcome Gothas with a grin.
No tea? All right. No sugar? Good.
No meat? A kipper's healthier food.

A Truck for the Farmer

FARM equipment which will effect a time and labor-saving, and therefore a money-saving, must be carefully considered by every good farmer now-a-days.

The farm wagon, which for years was the most useful of all farm equipment, is now being replaced on the best farms by a sturdy, dependable motor truck. The truck will haul any farm product—fruit, grain, vegetables, stock, fertilizer, or wood—around the farm, or to the town or city many miles distant, in half the time, and at a much lower cost.

The Ford One-Ton truck is a rapid, economical and very serviceable means of transport. One of these on your farm will save you weeks of time in a single season and will enable you to pass through a crisis of labor shortage with less difficulty.

The Ford truck is supplied as a chassis only. This permits you to select any of the many body styles especially designed for the Ford truck and already on the market.
Thus you can mount the one which suits your individual requirements.

Price $750 f.o.b. Ford, Ont.

THE ONLY MEDICINE FOR LITTLE ONES

Once a mother has used—Baby's Own Tablets for her little ones she will use nothing else. The Tablets teaches her they are absolutely safe; that they never fail to give relief; and that the little ones do not dread taking them as they do castor oil and other harsh purgatives. Concerning the Tablets Mrs. John M. Weaver, Blissfield, N. B., says:—"I have used Baby's Own Tablets for the past ten years and have found them so good I always keep a box in the house." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Toronto College of Music

Inauguration of Musical Examination Has Been of Great Benefit

Of all the pioneer work done in the interests of musical education in Canada, nothing has been more productive of good than the inauguration of the Toronto College of Music Examinations. Founded by F. H. Torrington, whose name needs no introduction to the Canadian public, the College is entitled to rank as one of the foremost musical institutions in this country. A system of local examinations in music has been established, whereby students at a distance from Toronto are afforded the same advantages as those in attendance at the College. These examinations are held at midsummer at the several local centres established throughout the Dominion. Full information and the Syllabus of examination requirements may be obtained by applying to the Secretary of the College in Toronto.

Wonders of Surgery

New Glass Eyes That Can Move and Wink

A British army surgeon describes an improved glass eye which can move. The chief drawback to the ordinary glass eye is that, being simply a convex shell of glass, it tends to sink back into the socket and is fixed in a stony stare. The new device gets over these difficulties by placing in the socket of the eye a sphere of living cartilage, or gristle taken without risk from the patient's ribs. It is all one operation.

While one surgeon removes the destroyed eye, another surgeon removes the pieces of cartilage from the patient's breastbone. Two pieces are made into a little globe, which is placed in the socket, and the thin outer covering of the eye, the conjunctiva, is sewn over to hold it in place. The ordinary glass eye shell is inserted over this and is prevented from sinking backward. Some movements of the eye by the wearer is said to be possible.—San Francisco Argonaut.

Minard's Liniment Lumberman's Friend

An Old Law Simplified
A Boston paper complains that although millions of pounds of fish come into that port every day—quantities greater than ever before—the price does not drop. This is an illustration of the law of supply and demand, as applied to the consumer by the wholesalers: "You supply the money and I'll demand it."—Detroit News.

Miller's Worm Powders are par excellence the medicine for children who are found suffering from the ravages of worms. They immediately alter the stomachic conditions under which the worms subsist and drive them from the system, and at the same time, they are tonical in their effect upon the digestive organs, restoring them to healthful operation and ensuring immunity from further disorders from such a cause.

Tender Memories

"Shut that door!" yelled the rough man. "Where were you raised; in a barn?" The man addressed meekly and silently complied, but the speaker looking at him a moment later observed that he was in tears. Going over to his victim he apologized. "Oh, come," he said soothingly, "you shouldn't take it to heart because I asked if you were raised in a barn." "That's it, that's it," sobbed the other man. "I was raised in a barn and it makes me homesick every time I hear an ass bray."

No Asthma Remedy Like It. Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy is distinctly different from other so-called remedies. Were this not so it would not have continued its great work of relief until known from ocean to ocean for its wonderful value. Kellogg's, the foremost and best of all asthma remedies, stands upon a reputation founded in the hearts of thousands who have known its benefit.

A Welshman's Prayer

A simple-minded man in a Welsh coal valley is a character in his way. He always insists on taking his turn in the devotional services of his chapel. His prayer the other night was something like this: "Almighty God, Thou hast heard about that old kaiser. I read in the paper that his throat is bad, and that he has difficulty in breathing. Well, Lord, Thou knowest how far to go."—Cardiff Western Mail.

Ask for Minard's and take no other.

A Much-Sentenced Author

Remarkable Claim in the Introduction to a Book

The most remarkable claim I have yet found in the introduction of a book—and introductions are often more startling than the books to which they belong—is that the author has been "condemned to death eight times" and "various sentences aggregating more than five hundred years of penal servitude." The author in question is M. Daniel Blumenthal, an Alsatian by birth, who has been mayor of Colmar for nine years and who has represented Strassburg in the Reichstag. The sentences, of course, have been imposed upon him by the German government, as the introduction puts it, "because he escaped from the empire to tell the world the truth about Alsace-Lorraine; and the book is 'Alsace-Lorraine,' in which he sets out the relations of the two provinces to France and to Germany, respectively, and contends that 'there is but one way in which they can regain their health. They must again be united to France, their mother country, their rightful home.'—Diaries, in the Westminster Gazette.

A New Wheat

The Central Dominion Experimental Farm, to which we already owe Marquis and Prelude wheats, has, under the direction of Dr. Charles E. Saunders, produced another new variety, Ruby. This new wheat possesses characteristics in ripening and other qualities midway between Marquis and Prelude. It is seedless, possesses hard red kernels, gives a fair yield, and makes flour of the highest quality in regard to color and strength. Bread made from it ranks in the first class. This wheat is the result of a cross between Downy Riga and Red Fife. Ruby is, however, recommended only where Marquis will not ripen.

The Country Store

IN the evening, when the day's work is done, men like to stroll over to the village store to discuss the war, politics, or whatever may be of local interest.

It is under these circumstances that the health of the family is referred to and experiences are interchanged in regard to medicines that have proven particularly effective.

After Dr. Chase had introduced his medicines to the druggists he found that many who wrote to him for treatment lived many miles from doctor or druggist, and had to depend on the country store for their medicines. Thus it came about that Dr. Chase's medicines were placed in general stores, and you can now obtain them wherever medicines are sold.

Instead of trying to imagine what the man in the picture is saying about Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, we shall publish a letter from Mr. James Carr, who attributes his good health and that of his large family to the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

18 Miles From Drug Store.

Mr. James Carr, Maynooth, Ont., writes: "About nineteen years ago I received an envelope containing two of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. I was doctoring at the time with two doctors and, as they did me no good, I used the pills, and by the time I had finished one box I was cured of the pain in the back and shoulders.

"We have great confidence in Dr. Chase's medicines. I have a family of ten children and have never had a doctor in the house for any of them. We live eighteen miles from a drug store, and find that these pills cure nearly all the ordinary ills by regulating the liver, kidneys and bowels. That we are all well and sound I attribute to their use, and I have recommended them to hundreds and given away many a box because I believe there is no medicine so good."

After long experience with Dr. Chase's Medicines we have found that people who try them are soon convinced of their exceptional merits.

We have published thousands of letters to give you an idea of the benefits others have obtained by their use, but if you are still skeptical we shall be glad to send you our

A Campaign For Greater Production

The campaign for greater production in this Province has been launched by the Department of Agriculture. Alberta has been divided into sixteen districts and a representative placed in each. This district comprises the constituencies of Stettler and Coronation, and is being handled by Mr. Geo. R. Holeton, an instructor in the Olds School of Agriculture.

His duty will be to aid the farmers in any way possible, but particularly in the matter of securing labor, seed grain, use of vacant lands, rigs to do breaking, etc.

The labor bureaus are expecting many experienced men from the States and wages should not exceed $70 per month by the season.

Mr. Holeton will make his headquarters at Castor, but will spend most of the time visiting farmers throughout the district.

BUSY BIDEFORD

There will be an auction sale tomorrow, (Saturday) when K. Clarke will bring in his live and dead farm stock and implement for disposal for cash or credit.

The town and district will wake up next week and realize not only that the clock has been pushed ahead one hour but that our popular Doctor and his charming wife have left us. How we shall manage without an ever ready and kindly Doctor in our midst is a problem.

There is a farewell social and At Home at the Schoolhouse, tonight, when the townsfolk, big and little, will show their appreciation of the Dr. and his wife by presenting them with a purse of gold as a parting remembrance. The report of the excellent dramatic and musical program will appear in our next issue.

The school children are busy with their gardens at present, and anticipate a good season when they can sell their vegetables to help catch the Hun.

Mrs. Bagtle, of this town, died in the Saskatoon hospital, on Saturday. Everyone respected her as a splendid worker on the farm, and much sympathy is felt for her husband and two children.

A sad death occurred in Fusilier, when a little 3 year old lad died, after frightful convulsions as the result of swallowing strychnine, which he found in an old tin. It would be well now that gopher killing contests are in vogue, to see that the poison is out of every child's reach, for Mother Eve's sin of insatiable curiosity is ever present in the childish mind.

Signs of Spring in Bideford are seen everywhere when the prairie crocuses form the decoration of the dinner table. The great problem is how to keep a good menu with food at its present high price.

Great Britain is now on rations of meat, butter, margarine and sugar. A scheme of bread rationing is now being prepared.

Fight with Food

A Call to the Whole Dominion for the Utmost Effort to Produce Food for our Soldiers and Allies

OUR ALLIES are desperately short of food. In the midst of plenty ourselves we must face the stern reality of England on shorter rations than she has been for over a hundred years, and France with only three days' food reserve. Even from their present small supplies they are saving Italy from collapse through hunger.

Since shipping must be concentrated on the shortest routes, Canada and the United States must continue to be practically the only source of supply. Canada must provide wheat and meat in increasing quantities to meet a situation that imperils the issues of the war.

Men who can be spared for work on the farms must serve in this way. Those who are obliged to remain in the city or town can at least raise vegetables in their gardens or on vacant lots.

Every effort will be made to see that labor is forthcoming to harvest the maximum crops that farmers can produce.

An increased spring acreage in wheat and other grain is vitally needed.

Stock raisers are asked to provide the greatest possible production of meat, especially pork.

Starvation is threatening our Allies. Everyone in Canada must fight by doing his or her utmost, to produce and to conserve food.

Military Service Act

Important Announcement to All

EXEMPTED MEN

and to the Public Generally

IN dealing with the very large number of claims for exemption brought forward for consideration in connection with Class 1 under the Military Service Act, it has occurred, as was inevitable, that as a result of false statements and difficulties put in the way of investigation, some individuals have secured exemption whose proper place is in the Army.

It is not the intention of the Government to allow these men to evade permanently their obligation to bear their part in the military defence of the Country and of the ideals for which we are fighting. To do so would defeat the purpose of the Act, and cause grave injustice to men in the second class necessarily called out to fill their places.

Exemptions Granted on False Grounds

It is, therefore, proposed to scrutinize carefully all exemptions granted to date in order to separate those which have been granted on false or insufficient grounds from those that are well founded.

With this object in view the various Registrars under the Military Service Act have been instructed to issue a series of questionnaires to exempted men. These questionnaires must be filled up correctly and returned promptly under penalty of forfeiture of exemption for failure to do so.

Exempted Men Who Have Changed Address

It is therefore important in their own interest that all exempted men who have changed their address since their exemption was granted and who have not already notified the Registrar of such change should notify him at once. Under the Regulations it is the duty of exempted men to keep the Registrar advised of any change of address, and failure to receive the questionnaire by reason of neglect of this duty must be treated as equivalent to failure to return the questionnaire after receipt.

Citizens Urged to Assist

In many instances information has been furnished by members of the public which has led to the cancellation of exemptions obtained by false or misleading statements. Further co-operation of this character is invited. The Government regard it as the Duty of all loyal citizens, not only to the Country, but to the men at the front, to assist in this way in securing reinforcements on a just and legal basis. Correspondence of this character will be treated as strictly confidential and will receive the fullest investigation.

CHARLES J. DOHERTY, Minister of Justice.
